Course Description

This is an advanced level art studio course for students with prior experience. The course focuses on from drawing to sign, learning to see and observe as a starting point for drawing. Students learn about pictorial materials and classical and modern drawing techniques. Students engage in self-analysis and inner exploration, and they learn how to use the sign to translate the emotion of gestures. The sign becomes an opportunity for analysis and research for students, who use their own expressive language. Teaching methods include drawing from life with posed models.
