Course Description

This course develops foundational writing skills in Irish by engaging with short texts based on themes aligned with the A1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Writing practice is supported by analysis of Irish syntax using both original work and selected examples from other sources. Reading skills are strengthened through short passages accompanied by comprehension tasks. The course also encourages reflection on personal learning processes, with attention to the use of learning strategies, common challenges, and effective approaches for addressing them through guided class discussion.
