Course Description

This course explores the art and visual culture of Asia from Neolithic times to the tenth century CE, with a focus on major developments in India, China, Korea, and Japan. Students will engage with a wide array of objects across diverse media—including sculpture, painting, pottery, crafts, and architecture—analyzing them not only as aesthetic forms but also as products of specific historical and cultural contexts. The overarching goal is to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of key monuments and artifacts, while also introducing a range of critical approaches to studying visual culture. By the end of the course, students develop visual literacy skills and analytical tools applicable to the study of art traditions in Asia.
