Course Description

The Spring and Autumn Annals is one of the five Classics of Confucianism, and its Ram, Guliang and Zuo Zhuan each have a place in the Thirteen Classics of Confucianism.The "Gong Yang Biography" elaborated on the general meaning of small words, especially the important origin of Confucian political philosophy and historical philosophy, which played an important role in the political life of ancient China.On the other hand, the Biography of Zuo, with its detailed records and colorful prose, is the most important book for the study of the historical facts of the Spring and Autumn Period, as well as one of the best historical and literary works in Chinese history: The Biography of Guliang, with its pure moral principle, is also an important part of Confucianism.This course plans to take the righteous example of "Gong Yang Biography" as a compendium and read the three biographies in pairs. Through the teaching method of combining the classics in history and the classics with history, students will be brought into the doctrinal world of "Spring and Autumn Annals".

First, through the reading and learning of the Spring and Autumn Annals and its three biographies, students can have a preliminary understanding of the text features of the three biographies.Secondly, on the premise of having a general understanding of the historical facts of the Spring and Autumn Period, the students can have a better understanding of the Chinese historical tradition originated in the Spring and Autumn Period and the Confucian ethical thoughts, political philosophy and historical philosophy expounded by the three biographies.
