Course Description

This intermediate level Spanish course focuses on the particularities of the Spanish language. By the end of the course, participants are expected to participate in communicative interactions with Spanish speakers in social and academic settings. It requires prior knowledge of the enunciation system in Spanish: the syntax of simple and compound sentences; the form and function of the parts of speech; simple and compound tenses of the indicative; simple tenses of the subjunctive; the aspectual and modal verb periphrases, and the imperative. The student will be able to interact appropriately in everyday, academic, and work situations in Spanish, being aware of the cultural and social realities of the Hispanic world (CEFR A2).

The course covers the following topics:

- Interact efficiently in conventional communicative contexts by introducing himself, finding lodging, using transportation, making narrations and getting involved in simple transactions;
- Ask and give information about oneself and other people, personal interests, everyday activities, likes and hobbies;
- Describe and characterize people, things, places, etc.;
- Make hypotheses and predictions about the future;
- Understand simple reading passages;
- Write simple texts, both formal and personal;
- Become aware of the linguistic and cultural diversity in the world and be able to interact in intercultural contexts, and
- Have conscious control over the psychological and affective factors that influence the learning process and use learning processes strategically.
