Course Description

This course is a Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) course in English and Korean to explore Korean history in the 20th century with a focus on disasters, accidents, and crises. In the 20th century, the world, including Korea, experienced imperialism, colonization and war, and after many countries were liberated, experienced the Cold War. This course covers various disasters, accidents and crises in Korea before achieving rapid capitalist industrialization and democratization. Class lectures and communication are in Korean, with readings in both English and Korean to achieve the goal of the CLIL course.
