Course Description

This course explores the different perspectives and concepts of urban and rural development including the process of urbanization, diverse population and demographic trends, urban planning, urban growth and decline, governance, natural environment concerns, sustainability, and the impact of globalisation. It examines theories and practices of community development both in rural and urban areas as well as their context and changes. The course also includes analysis of key issues such as rural-urban poverty, agriculture, education, social services, equal opportunity, migration and community dynamics, especially among marginalized and vulnerable families and communities in both urban and rural contexts.
