Course Description

This course introduces students to key topics and concepts in disaster management. No prior knowledge is assumed. The causes of disasters are explored and different approaches to addressing them are critically analyzed through lectures and seminars. Course content includes disaster vulnerability and resilience, as well as the disaster management cycle. Students gain a clear understanding of the different types of disasters, disaster risks, and how and why vulnerability to hazards varies across space and time, in both low- and high-income contexts.
