Course Description

This course examines the interactions between markets and politics. Is globalization responsible for the rise of populism in the West? How will the power struggle between China and the United States shape global business? This course introduces students to the key concepts and theories of IPE in order to analyze and understand these pressing issues and questions facing policymakers and citizens. Topics include globalization, international trade, finance, debt, foreign direct investment, development, international migration, and consequences and controversies of globalization.
