Course Description

This course is part of the Laurea Magistrale degree program and is intended for advanced level students. Enrollment is by permission of the instructor. In this course, students acquire in-depth knowledge of Spanish women's literature and are able to use practical methodologies for the analysis and the interpretation of the literary text. In module one, students rediscover the figures of Emilia Pardo Bazán (1851–1921), through her short stories, essays, and journalistic work, with particular attention to her commitment to women's emancipation and her fight against gender violence; and Ángeles Vicente (1873–1918), through the novel Zeze (1909), a homoerotic novel situated between Bildungsroman and social critique at the turn of the century, from a feminist perspective. In module two, the course takes as a case study the Spanish democratic Transition, examined here from the perspective of feminist and trans struggles. To understand the unfinished evolution of the first post-Francoist Spain, literary, non-fiction, and cinematographic materials are examined.
